House Rejects Plan To Delay Ban on Japanese

CONFERENCE BILL IS OVERTHROWN BY 20 MAJORITY

Repudiation of Coolidge-Hughes Measure Is Distinct Shock to the White House.

ENTIRE BILL THROWN BACK IN CONFERENCE

House Immigration Chairman Uncertain What Fate Bill Will Meet on Reconsideration.

BY LYLE C. WILSON.
Washington, May 9.—By a vote of 191 to 171, the house rejected the compromise conference report on the immigration bill after a day of heated debate.

This constitutes rejection of the compromise on Japanese exclusion forced by President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes, which was designed to prevent affront to Japan by deferring until March 1, 1925, the operation of the legislative exclusion clause, giving the administration time in the interim to negotiate a treaty with Japan.

Twenty-three republicans voted to recommend, 11 democrats voted against recommending, and Representatives Berger, of Wisconsin; Kvale, of Minnesota, and Wefald, of Minnesota, the three independents in the house, voted against acceptance of the conference's report.

Coolidge Wanted March 1.
The provision, recommended by the conference on pressure from Coolidge, advanced the date when the exclusion becomes effective to March 1, next year, so that a treaty might be drawn up with Japan. Coolidge wanted the date set at March 1, 1926, but the conference compromised on the earlier date.

Overthrow of the administration forces in the house opens the way to reconsideration of the entire immigration program, according to Representative Albert Johnson, of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee.

"The entire bill is now thrown back into conference," Johnson said, "and I don't know what will happen. The alien seaman provision and Senator Reed's clause relating to determination of immigration after 1927 in reference to 'national origin' were on thin ice during the last conference. It is not unlikely that both clauses

ALL WORK HALTED ON NEW PROJECTS

Public Improvements
Must Be Abandoned in Order To Prevent Closing of Public Schools.

All new purchases for the city were halted by the purchasing committee of city council Friday, pending readjustment of the finance sheet to take care of the public school deficit. Madox park pavilion construction, Grady hospital heating plant and Piedmont park drainage improvements were held up among others.

Abandonment of all public improvements planned for this year will still leave the city short by $130,000 of having enough money to run the schools through October and make the water rate reduction voted by council Monday, it was revealed after a special session of the finance committee Friday afternoon.

All money still unspent for improvements amounts only to $300,000, while the school board has declared a minimum need for $334,000 and the water rate reduction requires $100,000 more to be taken from appropriations previously voted.

The committee meets again this morning to resume its efforts to accomplish the triple requirements of keeping schools open, keeping other city departments running, and meeting the water reduction.

Members of the committee were reticent over probable developments at the session today. It was indicated

Bootleggers Demand Dry Law VOLSTEAD MODIFICATION NOT WANTED SAYS PETITION As "Protection to Industry"

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, May 9.—"Vard reached congress today that the bootleggers' union, meeting in solemn convention May 1 at New York, unanimously adopted resolutions protesting against modification of the Volstead act to legalize 2.75 per cent beer."

A petition forwarded to Representative Griffin, democrat, New York, said that delegates from locals along the Atlantic coast attended the meeting and were convinced that "various ill-advised and misguided informers have initiated a vicious propaganda to break down the drastic and wholesome provisions of the Volstead act."

Deciding that the object of bills to legalize beer have the "avowed object of encouraging the consumption of the so-called lighter drinks to the detriment of whisky and other alcoholic beverages," the petition said that enactment of such legislation "would undermine and possibly utterly destroy an important industry which has painstakingly built up at great risk of an immense capital, not to speak of the risk of personal liberty, many of our members having incurred jail sentences and confiscation of their personal property in the pursuit of their chosen calling."

It has been the settled policy of the government to encourage and protect infant industries, the petition said, adding that the bootlegging industry has shown sufficient evidences of viability to fall within this category and consequently be entitled to the protection and support of the government.

Mr. Griffin filed the petition with the house and it was referred to the judiciary committee which handles prohibition legislation.

Mothers To Get Flowers at Party Of Constitution

All Over 40 Invited To See Picture Monday at How- ard Theater.

Monday next, at noon, the mothers of Atlanta will gather at the Howard theater. That is, the mothers who are 40 years old or more. For at that time the "Mothers' Day Party," given them by The Constitution, will begin.

This party is given that, once a year, the mothers who have given to Atlanta the young citizens who are making the city become the greatest and most progressive metropolis in the south, may know they are not forgotten, that they are appreciated and honored, even though their lives at home sometimes seem quiet and insignificant experiences.

It is to the mothers who do not often get the chance to go to a theater party that the invitation is particularly addressed. The Constitution wants these self-sacrificing women

TUBERCULOSIS MEN END MEET AT NOON

James B. Faulkner of At- lanta Chosen on Execu- tive Committee—Dinner Given Friday Night.

James B. Faulkner, of Atlanta, and Miss Bernice Billings, of Boston, were elected members of the executive committee, and Birmingham was selected as the meeting place in September of the southern tuberculosis conference, at the meeting Friday night of the tuberculous secretaries of the United States. Following this business, a dinner-dance was tendered the delegates by the Atlanta Woman's club.

The convention here will conclude at noon today, when 1,500 delegates will depart for their homes in almost every state of the union.

A spectacular incident at the dinner Friday evening developed when Postmaster Edward K. Large responded to a toast offered by the inventor of the Christmas seal, a native

Flashing Axe of Executioner HANGMAN RECRUITS NERVE AFTER FIRST PAIR DROP Plunges 6 Italians to Doom

Amite, La., May 9.—As a morbid note made holiday of the ghastly occasion, the executioner's axe flashed three times in the sunlight of the Amite jail yard Friday afternoon.

Each time the sun glinted off the avenging blade, a small rope was severed clean by the blow, the gallows floor collapsed with a clatter, and two men shot downward through the hole in the deck to stop with a jerk that broke their necks and killed them. Six men shot through the floor, as by two.

One of them was put to death only a few minutes before he would have died anyway from stab wounds which he had inflicted on himself as he awaited the sound of the jailer's tread in the corridor of death row.

His hands were gory from the flow of his wounds. There was no time to wash them. He might have escaped as chopping a rope in two.

Executed in Pairs.

The six men executed Friday were Natale Deamore and Roy Leon, the first pair to go; Adrea Lamenta and Joseph Bocchio, the second pair, and Joseph Rini and Joseph Giglio, whose catch him at his fearsome trade, was so horror-struck after the first swing of his axe that he threw his arms up before his eyes and ran to the kitchen of the jail to recruit his nerve for the four more killings that he had contracted to do.

The device for springing the trap is an ingenious one, unlike the mechanisms used in other states where the executioner merely yanks a lever which pulls a prop from beneath the trap door. In Amite, the hangman's responsibility for the death of the condemned is slightly more remote. He only swings an ax on a small taut rope and cuts it in two. It is not his fault that the rope is attached to the trigger of the latch in the trap door, and that its severance causes the door to collapse. Any man might do so casual a piece of business as chopping a rope in two.

Hangman Loses Nerve.

The executioner, whose face was hidden by a crude mask of black silk with slits for the eyes and mouth, as though he feared to have the world in Drunken Quarrel.

The Georgia prison commission Friday recommended that the death sentence of Ira Bryant, of Grady county, sentenced to hang next Friday, be commuted to life imprison- ment.

Bryant was convicted in Grady county of killing Jim Lewis, an aged white man. The testimony showed that Bryant beat Lewis with a stick, a firewood diamond, quite where they were both drunk at the former's house. Bryant died about two days after the beating from the wounds inflicted.

CEASELESS VIGIL ORDERED BY JETT TO JAIL AUTOIST

Men Are Told to Keep On

BROOKWOOD STATION SCENE OF ACCIDENT

Three Persons, Including
One Woman, Said to Have Been in Car Which Struck Pedestrian.

While on his way to the home of friends to spend the night with their children during the absence of the parents, Hugh L. McKee, prominent in business and fraternal circles, and former postmaster of Atlanta, was instantly killed about 9:30 o'clock Friday night at Brookwood station by an automobile, which is described as a four passenger coupe, and said to have been traveling at a rate of seventy miles an hour.

Witnesses said it contained three persons, a man and a woman in the front seat and a man in the rear. Car Stops for Moment.

When the car struck the body both the front and rear wheels passed over the body. The car stopped for a moment, it is stated, then started up again and was soon roaring away at terrific speed.

Mr. McKee died almost instantly. He was frantically mangled in the crash. Both legs were broken; and a hole was knocked in his head.

A Grady hospital ambulance was summoned, but when it arrived on the scene Mr. McKee was dead.

The body was taken at first to the undertaking establishment of Hunter-Blanchard, and later to the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Urge Ceaseless Vigil.

Shocked by the accident, which is the culmination of a long and bloody record in Atlanta this year, Acting Chief Jett gave immediate orders to insure the arrest of the autoist.

His men were told to maintain a ceaseless vigil, day and night, to effect the arrest. The detective department is at work on the case, and all patrolmen have been ordered to be especially vigilant.

Certain signs on the auto were noted by witnesses, and it is hoped that from this description the car can be traced and the party of autoists found.

Wife Is Notified.

When the scene of the crash was reached by witnesses, it was found that Mr. McKee was carrying a small hand bag, with the name "H. L. McKee, Atlanta, Ga., U. S. A." on the side. He wore a ring which showed he was a thirty-second degree Mason.

At first witnesses, police and the undertakers were unable to locate relatives. It was some time after the body was taken to the chapel of Hunter-Blanchard, before it was learned that Mr. McKee lived at the Georgia Terrace, owing to the fact that his name could not be found in the directory nor in the telephone book.

His relatives were notified when the address was learned, and the news of

Rogers' Stores Are the People's Garden Spots

Take a look at the produce display at any Rogers Store. There you will see, gathered for your comfort and convenience, practically everything grown in the gardens and on the truck farms of Georgia and the South—and in many cases the choicest of vegetables and fresh fruits from distant states. These are all brought into Atlanta under heavy refrigeration and distributed to our Stores and offered to you just as fresh and desirable as if you had selected them fresh from your own garden. Right now, for instance, we are offering home-raised Georgia vegetables—all that are obtainable—such as

Turnip Salad,
Rape Salad,

Spinach,
Radishes,

Spring Onions,
English Peas,

Carrots,
Beets.

—And we are offering oranges and grapefruit and celery and cucumbers from Florida; lemons and lettuce from California; pineapples from Cuba; cabbage from South Carolina; onions from California and Texas—and good things to eat from everywhere.

A Cute Little Size of Deviled Ham

We have just received our first shipment—and the first sent to the South—of a small-sized can of Underwood's Deviled Ham. This is just the same excellent quality as is put up in Underwood large sizes—but it's so cute and convenient, and so economical—that everybody is going to like it. Just enough to make about three delicious sandwiches—and it sells for

You're Just a Minute From a Rogers Store

Have you ever stopped to think of the convenience afforded you by Rogers' Stores? With more than 100 scattered all about the city, there's hardly a home that is more than a minute or two's walk from one of them. These Stores, so dotted around in every neighborhood, make it unnecessary to waste time or effort, to spend carfare, wear out shoe leather or burn up gasoline wandering around looking for good things to eat.

Something New and Delicious

Here we are with something entirely new and just so dainty and fine that everybody is going to try it—and then they are going to like it. It's PATTY CAKES, a new product of the Loose-Wiles Co.—a dainty little cake, yet large as the palm of your hand, sugar base, coated with fruit jelly and iced on top—fresh—tasty—elegant. GEORGIA ELKS PLAN BIG FROLIC AT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., May 9.—(Special)—The Georgia State Elks' association will meet in Augusta, May 21-22, and with the exception of the grand lodge convention held in Atlanta last summer, it will be the largest gathering of members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks ever held in this state.

It is anticipated that there will be nearly 2,000 Elks assembled here. Representatives from the 19 lodges in Georgia will be in attendance, and as interest in the meeting is widespread, officials predict that there will be a large delegation from each lodge.

Elks of nation-wide prominence will address the convention on the work of the order along lines of social and community welfare and other important subjects. Howard P. Parks, of LaGrange, president of the association, will preside.

The Atlanta lodge is planning to bring 500 members to the meeting, including the band, patrol troubadours, and a dance team, which will initiate a large class of candidates at the Imperial theater during the convention.

Elaborate plans are already being made for the entertainment of visitors. Augusta lodge will compliment the convention with a mammoth barbecue at Carmichael's Fishing club. There will be a big frolic and dance at the Dean's Bridge pond, Augusta's "Coney Island," which is the greatest inland bathing resort in the country, and which affords swimming facilities for several thousand people.

There will be a golf tournament for the men on Saturday. This will be held at the Country club, which boasts of two of the finest 18-hole golf courses in America. A number of handsome cups will be offered by the association for winners in the tournament.

At the cabaret-luncheon, which will be served at the Richmond hotel, brilliant numbers on the program will be feature acts from Augusta Elks' Minstrel frolic of 1924, which recently presented a show that was acclaimed the greatest performance of its kind the city has ever seen.

On the afternoon of the second day of the convention there will be a parade, with magnificent floats, uniformed patrols, and many other attractive features.

The grand reception and ball at the Richmond hotel, which has been designated the convention headquarters and at which the registration booth will be opened on Tuesday, May 20.

ARMS PARLEY MUST WAIT ON REPARATIONS

Washington, May 9.—Whatever prospects the future may hold for another arms conference, President Coolidge does not expect the opportunity for such a gathering to present itself during the coming summer.

The president has announced that a Japanese demand for European reparations should precede the calling of any arms conference, and he sees no prospects that such a settlement can be effected for some months to come.

will be eliminated when the bill again comes before the house."

Shock to White House.

Reputation of the Coolidge compromise as a Japanese exclusion was an unexpected shock to the white house. The president has made no attempt to minimize the gravity of what the administration considers as a useless affront to Japan. It is known that the president believed that a summary disregard of the gentlemen's agreement, now in effect, would lead to an international situation of some discomfort and disgratitudo, has been practically destroyed.

"The Japanese do not feel unkindly toward the people of the United States. Their resentment is against the government at Washington."

"It is not denied that America has the right to regulate its immigration and say who shall and who shall not come into the country, but the former agreement worked splendidly. The Japanese government kept absolutely to its side of the agreement; it did not let it come to keep the undesirable Japanese out."

Couch represent council and Commissioners slate and Gaines with Business Manager McCullough represent the school board.

Plans To Borrow.

President John T. Hancock, of the school board, told the finance committee at the beginning of its session that $895,115.10 was the "irreducible minimum" of additional funds needed to keep schools open until the end of this year. It could provide $234,000 of this sum, it is planned to borrow the rest of it in November to be repaid out of 1925 revenues next January, as was done last year.

Improvements Threatened.

Public improvements which are proposed for abandonment to keep schools open include the following: $6,400; West Peachtree street widening, $6,700; Edgewood avenue widening, $25,000; Washington street underpass closing, $3,000; for new stockade building, $25,000; repairs to paving Boulevard-DeKalb, $4,500; for purchase of new street, $12,500; for construction of McDonough bridge, $20,000; for advertising Atlanta, including appropriation to industrial bureau, $10,000; for Stone Mountain memorial, $5,000; for new water mains, $28,000; for Highland avenue fire engine house, $12,500; automatic sewer flushers, $10,000; St. Charles avenue sewer, $2,000; English avenue and Fox street widening, $8,000; Gaunt street and contagious hospital, $25,000; Peters street widening, $4,000; Forrest avenue widening, $10,000; Madison avenue widening, $23,000; East Fair street widening, $7,000. In addition various smaller appropriations for sewers and streets and other matters were included.

FLASHING AX SENDS 6 ITALIANS TO DOOM

death closed the unsavory festival that brought great crowds tumbling from the bars, the railroad station and camping over the roads in automobiles of all degrees.

Bocchio, a 24-year-old native of Italy with first papers of American naturalization, had once studied for the clergy. He entertained hopes almost until the last moment that a reprieve or commutation would be received from the governor because some of the relatives of Dallas Calmen, the man he murdered, were being exonerated, had relented of late and had joined thousands of other persons in requesting leniency.

The original plan was that Bocchio should go to the gallows in the first group and he was plunged into an abyss of mental depression when the news was conveyed to him. He thought a reprieve might come between the dispatch of the first group and the second but he was given no sign of hope. However, he was given 25 minutes more on earth when he was shifted to the second pair, for the first fall of the trap occurred at 12:01 and the second at 12:36.

Circumstances of Murder.

The six men were condemned for a shooting that occurred during their attempt to hold up the bank at Independence, La., just a little over three years ago, on May 7, 1921. The bank had an unusually large amount of currency on hand. An alarm was given and Calmen, who owned a restaurant, ran from his place and tried to intercept the bandits. He was shot dead. An Italian living in the neighborhood was suspected of knowing about the affair and he was arrested with Bocchio, but the name of Desmarteau. Thereafter the round-up of the murderers was not difficult. Bocchio was the driver of the robbers' automobile.

The Italian government, in an official communication to Governor Parker pointing out that capital punishment was not the law of Italy, joined the many Americans who petitioned Parker to spare the lives of the condemned.

Seven Official Witnesses.

There were seven official witnesses to the actual executions—two physicians and five civilians, three of the latter being newspaper reporters. But outside the walls of the jail, thousands of persons pressed close to a cordon formed by two companies of militiamen, who stood in a line, shoulder to shoulder, in a wall of authority behind a moat filled with water. There had been threats of vengeance and whisperings of diverting riot, under cover of which the condemned men were to be rescued. So the sheriff took no chances and brought in the troops to reinforce his own staff.

As Deamore walked to the gallows beside Leona, he sang in a melancholy voice, "Nobody Knows and Nobody Cares," a jazz-time song that was current in the days of his last freedom. Two priests walked with them as far as the gallows. Leona was shouting "Good-bye, good-bye, everyone." The priests mumbled their prayers as the nooses were adjusted and in the next instant the axe flashed through the air and thumped into the chopping block, releasing the trap and plunging the first pair to their deaths.

Lamantia Stabs Self.

The officials were calmly awaiting the expiration of the legal minimum of 20 minutes before cutting down the dangling figures, when an attendant rushed from the jail and summoned the doctors to Lamantia's cell. They found Lamantia dying from wounds and said he could only live a few minutes. Lamantia was placed in a chair and Bocchio was hurriedly summoned to him with the scaffold. With great haste the dying man and the unnered Bocchio were rushed to the trap and the hangman was summoned back to attend to them.

Probably Bocchio and Lamantia did not know what was happening. Both were in utter collapse and Lamantia may have been dead before the trap was sprung, although the coroner insisted that life was not quite ext-

There was more deliberation in the removal of Rini and Giglio and they went out at 1:16 p. m.

ARMS PARLEY MUST WAIT ON REPARATIONS

Washington, May 9.—Whatever prospects the future may hold for another arms conference, President Coolidge does not expect the opportunity for such a gathering to present itself during the coming summer.

The president has announced that a Japanese demand for European reparations should precede the calling of any arms conference, and he sees no prospects that such a settlement can be effected for some months to come.

will be eliminated when the bill again comes before the house."

Shock to White House.

Reputation of the Coolidge compromise as a Japanese exclusion was an unexpected shock to the white house. The president has made no attempt to minimize the gravity of what the administration considers as a useless affront to Japan. It is known that the president believed that a summary disregard of the gentlemen's agreement, now in effect, would lead to an international situation of some discomfort and disgratitudo, has been practically destroyed.

"The Japanese do not feel unkindly toward the people of the United States. Their resentment is against the government at Washington."

"It is not denied that America has the right to regulate its immigration and say who shall and who shall not come into the country, but the former agreement worked splendidly. The Japanese government kept absolutely to its side of the agreement; it did not let it come to keep the undesirable Japanese out."

TIME TO STOP IT!

The proposal to eliminate the Pullman surcharge, which is 50 per cent of the scheduled Pullman fares, and which 50 per cent accrues to the railroads, despite the fact that the passengers have already paid the regular carrier fares between the initial and objective points, is being fought by the railroads, as might be expected, and is being equally as vigorously demanded by business men, public service commissions, and even by the Pullman company.

The question is entirely up to the Interstate commerce commission, as congress provided in the law creating this surcharge that it should be abrogated by the commission at such time as it found advisable. A decision is promised within 10 days.

There is not a more unfair tax upon the traveling public than this surcharge. When created the railroads were not making money, and were having a hard time to recover from the disruptions and disorganization produced by war. The people did not seriously object then, as the strained economic conditions were recognized, and the spirit of cooperation predominated to a marked extent.

Now the railroads are enjoying an even greater prosperity than before the World war, and they demand the surcharge now only because they have it, with its annual increase into the railroads' revenues of something like $37,000,000 a year, and are not disposed to give up what they have without a fight.

For a half-century before the World war there was no Pullman surcharge, and none thought of.

The railroads did not complain then, and they carried the Pullman cars as a part of routine service equipment, the equipment demanded of trunk lines making overnight runs.

There is not as much reason for a surcharge accruing to the roads, in addition to greatly increased passenger fares, as there was before the World war. Therefore to keep this additional and wholly unfair tax fostered upon the public would be the perpetuation of an unwarranted and unjustified subsidy.

IN THE TRADE CIRCLES.

Advance Friday in spot cotton to $1.75, or $4.50 a bale, was decided by the feature of an otherwise uninteresting and irregular market the past week. Favorable foreign news, cold weather over the cotton belt, activities of professional operators in the market and heavy trade buying combined to send the cotton market to new high levels for the week.

Uncertainty over results of elections in Germany and divided opinion of Germans toward the Dawes report caused extreme irregularity in trading early in the week, and there was a marked downward trend.

The general undertone, however, is firm and the general attitude toward market operations has been more of a watchful policy and a willingness on the part of buyers to await election results. The general condition is good.

A 51-point drop Thursday in the French franc caused heavy short selling and weakened oils. Sinclair made a new low record for the year.

An interesting development, and one which caused considerable discussion in market circles, was the rumor from Pittsburgh that independent steel manufacturers were considering a wage reduction.

Unfavorable weather conditions throughout the cotton belt have tended to strengthen the tone of cotton. Planting has been late in many sections and the cool, crisp weather of the week-end has tended to retard growth. A government warning to farmers against overconfidence of light weevil infestation in the cotton area had a strengthening effect.

Government experiment stations discredit reports that severe winter weather destroyed sufficient overwinter weevils to insure heavier production.

The foreign outlook is particularly auspicious to inner circles of big trading exchanges. In the opinion of Seymour L. Cromwell, who last week retired as president of the New York stock exchange, the exchange will soon be called upon to facilitate a continual export of surplus American capital.

"The outlook for a genuine and definite settlement of European war claims seems peculiarly auspicious," he said.

NESTOR OF THE PRESS.

On another page in today's Constitution is the story—gripping and inspiring—one of the most remarkable newspaper men in this country, the nestor of journalism not only in the south but in America.

And although "eighty-five years young," Captain William Rule, editor of the Knoxville (Tenn.) Journal and Tribune, is daily at his typewriter "grinding out," in the parlance of the profession, as virile and as brilliant discussions of current events, politics, economics, everything worth while, as he did nearly sixty years ago when he became editor and publisher of the old Knoxville Chronicle.

Now man in southern Journalism, since the passing of Henry Watterton, has been in such intimate touch with the ever-changing affairs of the south, since the Civil war, as has Captain Rule. In the days of reconstruction when Tennessee was the hotbed of conflicting thought this editor was in the thickest of the fight, at one time becoming an editor of the old Daily Whig, afterward, however, retiring to the editorship of the Chronicle, which he established.

In the sixty odd years of his daily newspaper service he has seen and helped in the development of many newspaper men of subsequent national prominence. Adolph S. Ochs, the publisher of the New York Times, first entered a newspaper office as "printer's devil," under the editorship of the Chronicle, which he established.

Fair Warning!

(From the Honey Grove Signal.)

A well-known citizen fell dead Monday while mowing his yard. Several deaths from drinking moonshine whisky have been reported, and the Signal has warned men to leave moonshine alone. Now that the lawmower has shown itself, that against the life of man, we could not be true to our sex if we failed to warn men to touch not this instrument in years, but no less forceful in spirit.

It is the hope of The Constitution and his multitude of friends throughout his state and the south that he may be spared for many years yet unborn, and that when the end does come, as the exactions of time will sometime demand, that it will find him "in harness"—just as he is today and has been for more than three score years.

AS TO "MUSIC WEEK."

The close today of "National Music Week," fittingly observed in Atlanta in many ways, brings to mind the importance of a more definite plan for its observance in the future. The woman's division of the chamber of commerce has taken a peculiarly active interest in this matter and it is hoped that this occasion may be properly included in next year's budget so that its celebration may be more elaborate, and more widely enjoyed by all the people, and of course to the cultural life of Atlanta, and the state of Georgia.

The week has been a marked success in Atlanta this year. It is the success of the general program now closing that accentuates the necessity for the broader lines and plans for another year, and for all the years thereafter.

Atlanta is the music metropolis of the south. That has been made so by grand opera, and by the symphony orchestra and the scores of allied music activities in which particularly the women's civic organizations and auxiliaries participate.

It is not alone the music metropolis, but the cultural metropolis, and the great art exhibit soon to be opened at the Biltmore is an illustration of the position that Atlanta holds in all cultural activities and accomplishments.

The Constitution hopes to see the annual "Music Week" in this city made so attractive, in its range and merit, that thousands of people will be drawn here each week just as they are drawn to grand opera.

This can be done, and it should be done. In the meantime hearty congratulations are extended to all of those instrumental in making the features of the week closing so successful.

A literary exchange has an article entitled "Fame, After a Hundred Years." But who wants to wait that long for it?

What Would Have Been "News."

The Kansas City Star columnist says—

"What is news? A social item says, 'A delicious lunch, which had been prepared by the ladies, was served.' That isn't news, declares the Clay Center Times. There would have been some news to it if it had said, 'The lunch had been prepared by the men.' Not so much that item have been news, says The Times, but there would have been some cases of sickness to report and possibly a riot story to boot."

Great, ghostly shadows—
A lonesome night.
A burrying, scurrying wind.
A moon striving to see the earth,
But blinded by muddled clouds,
All grayish and black.
The stars, light waving with the

A lone stranger hastening by,
Homeward-bound—to shelter,
Comfort, love.
A drop of rain—another—and the

With my heart reaching out
Farther than eyes can see—
Groping in that darkness.

He lives in the same house in which he was born. "Never saw any sense in doing unnecessary things," Bishop says.

Miss Helen Knox Spain, Miss Fannie Lee Bettis, and Mrs. Colvin, sponsors for the bands were Misses Dorcas, the Hon. Mrs. Miller, Pearl Loring, Agnes Haynes, Margaret Masoner, Bernice Venison, Louise Hodges, Thelma Glawson, Mary Palmer, Carolyn Newton, and Mary Dure.

Locust Grove Institute was adjudged Friday night winner in the state inter-preparatory band contest, in which practically every preparatory school in Georgia was represented. The contest was held at the Wesley Memorial church.

The meeting, held in connection with Atlanta's observance of National Music Week, which is being sponsored by the woman's division of the chamber of commerce, was promoted by Reynolds Clark, of the Coca-Cola company, which awarded six handsome prizes.

Second place in the band contest was taken by Lanier High school, of Macon, with third place awarded to Georgia Military academy, of College Park.

The result of the competitive parade held earlier in the day gave Tech High school first place, Locust Grove, second, and Lanier High third.

The schools which took part in the contests were Tech High school, Georgia Military academy, Marist College, Riverside Military academy, Monroe A. & M., and Locust Grove Institute.

The parade was adjudged by Captain Joe Clegg, commander of the Elks Patrol, Dr. F. E. Van de Vere, commander of the Shrine patrol, Captain Ennis and Captain Crawford W. Maddox of the American Legion. Riverside Military academy was adjudged the best military participant, with the best dressed cadets.

Musical numbers were presented between the band contests Friday night by students of the Morgan-Stephens conservatory.

Officers of the woman's division who took part in the parade Friday afternoon were Miss Mabel Kendrick, the building offsetting the intense heat to which the plants were subjected.

Another fact that was the subject of widespread comment was that, while the entire building lay a mass of smoking ashes and twisted ruins late Friday, the wooden columns of the sweeping porch of the clubhouse continued to stand despite the fact that they were blackened and eaten entirely through by fire.

Firemen Handicapped.

Fire Chief Cody stated that almost a mile of hose was brought into play in fighting the fire, this being due to the fact that hydrants in the section were widely scattered and the nearest one was some 400 feet from the club house.

In addition to playing an important part in fostering golf and other sports in the south, the Druid Hills Golf club has for years been an important adjunct to Atlanta's social life. The ballroom and dining rooms of the club have been the scene of many brilliant social events.

Dr. T. P. Hinman, president of the club, was not in Atlanta at the time of the fire. Only a short time before he had left for St. Louis on a business trip, and it was reported at his home that his plans on departure did not contemplate his return before next Wednesday.

Other officers of the club are Lowry Arnold, vice president; Henry Davis, treasurer, and C. R. Gaines, secretary.

A barber shop, a sofa found and eight homes were damaged by other fires Friday, the total loss estimated to reach $25,000.

One of the homes wrecked was that of R. M. Smythies, 95 East Fifteenth street. This fire was caused from spontaneous combustion, according to fire officials. The loss was estimated at between $7,000 and $10,000.

Fire played havoc with three homes, a barber shop and a sofa found on Chestnut, inflicting a damage estimated at approximately $10,000.

The flames started at the rooming house of A. G. Allen, 18 Cherry street, from sparks on the roof, spreading rapidly as live sparks were blown over the neighborhood by the high wind, which fanned the blaze beyond control.

The fire was discovered near the door, 20 and 22 Cherry street, caught as did the barber shop of G. R. Morris, located at 16B Cherry street. J. McDonald's home, 16 Cherry street, was also severely damaged.

Panic Is Threatened.

A panic was narrowly averted by the quickness with which the firemen fighting the fire reached the scene of the accident to the outburst of the flames, which had been discovered, were confined to a small area and of no dangerous proportions.

Flames Spread Rapidly.

However, they spread with remarkable quickness over the roof, and by the time fire fighting apparatus reached the scene the whole top was a seething furnace. From the roof, the fire ate its way into the side walls of the building, despite heroic work on the part of emergency fire equipment rushed to the club, and in two hours the handsome building was only a glowing mass of ruins.

The fire was one of the most spectacular of recent times, flames from the burning building soaring to great height and a cloud of dense smoke obscuring the entire section about the club grounds. Hundreds, hearing of the fire, rushed to the scene in automobiles, and watched the hopeless fight waged by the firemen to check the flames.

Due to the presence of mind of a local boy, the clothing of most of those who were playing golf at the time the fire broke out was saved. It was reported, however, that three men who had just started a round of the links were forced to return to the city in golf carts because their street clothing was lost.

Golf clubs were stored for the most part in the professional's shop, which, together with the caddy house, was unharmed.

The speed of the spread of the fire was disclosed in striking manner Friday when an inventory of the property saved showed that, it consisted largely of golf and office furniture, the cash register and a few odds and ends that were employees carried with them in their flight from the burning structure.

Club Records Destroyed.

All club records were destroyed despite efforts on the part of Secretary C. R. Gaines to salvage them.

Many deeds of heroism in rescuing valuable trophies and in fighting the progress of the flames were reported by club members.

C. F. Player, manager of the club, rushed into the flames and at the risk of his life saved the Adair cup, which was on a table in the lounge, and also brought out numerous other trophies.

Mrs. W. L. Fitts, the hostess, lost all her personal possessions, which were stored in the ladies' locker room, despite attempts to save them.

After the fire was extinguished at the club, it was the first to see the fire, and made desperate but unavailing efforts to prevent the spread of the flames before the firemen reached the scene. Rooks, the head chef, also aided in fighting club property out of the fire.

Tents are being provided to take care of the golfers under other arrangements made by the club directors at their meeting today.

The Druid Hills Golf club was erected about ten years ago, and since that time has served as the home of one of the most exclusive organizations of its kind in the south. Standing back from Ponce de Leon avenue at the corner of the Clifton road, it was surrounded by magnificent landscape gardening and shrubbery that greatly heightened the natural beauty of the spot.

A remarkable feature in connection with the fire was that despite the gigantic scope of the flames, little damage was done to the shrubbery, a fine mist from the water played on the ground.

Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, made a final attempt to put a tax on income from tax-exempt securities which was overruled by a committee of the Senate on April 26. A committee amendment placing a tax of two cents per $100 on drafts, promissory notes and checks not payable on sight was defeated, 47 to 31.

Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, made a provision restricting deductions for non-business losses and interest to amounts less than the income received from tax-exempt securities was adopted, 50 to 45. Due to confusion over the meaning of the amendment, Senator Reed voted contrary to their intention on this amendment, and it will be called up again Saturday on request of Shipstead, Minnesota.

The other only amendment left for disposition Saturday—unless Norbeck introduces the McNaury-Haagen farm bill—is one by Senator Simons, of New York, which exempts grants in a flat exemption of $2,500 to all married persons. The bill provides $2,500 for those with incomes under $5,000, and $2,000 above.

CAR, 100 GALLONS WHISKY ARE SEIZED

A large touring car, containing more than 100 gallons of whisky, was confiscated by police early Saturday morning after an exciting chase in the downtown section. The driver of the liquor car escaped when Patrolman I. D. Portwood leaped from his car onto the running board of the "pursuit machine" and jerked the emergency brake.

The queer actions of the whisky car aroused suspicions of officers as it was driven slowly up and down Edgewood avenue Friday night. When an investigation was started, the car sped away.

Memorial Stone Shelter To Be Dedicated Monday

Impressive Ceremonies Will Be Held When U. S. Accepts Gift to Aid Disabled Soldiers.

Dr. William Russell Owen, of Macon, distinguished Baptist preacher and orator; Governor Walker, Mayor Sims, General Shanks, a special group of members of the Masonic order, the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs and all interested in soldier welfare will gather at United States government grounds at 10:30 a. m. Monday afternoon to witness dedication of a memorial stone shelter built by women of Atlanta at the car stop in front of the hospital grounds for the comfort of disabled men at the hospital.

Dr. Owen will make the dedicatory address. Governor Walker will express approval of the accomplishment. Mayor Sims will extend greeting, and Mrs. T. T. Stevens, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside.

A barber shop, a sofa found and eight homes were damaged by other fires Friday, the total loss estimated to reach $25,000.

One of the homes wrecked was that of R. M. Smythies, 95 East Fifteenth street. This fire was caused from spontaneous combustion, according to fire officials. The loss was estimated at between $7,000 and $10,000.

Fire played havoc with three homes, a barber shop and a sofa found on Chestnut, inflicting a damage estimated at approximately $10,000.

The flames started at the rooming house of A. G. Allen, 18 Cherry street, from sparks on the roof, spreading rapidly as live sparks were blown over the neighborhood by the high wind, which fanned the blaze beyond control.

The fire was discovered near the door, 20 and 22 Cherry street, caught as did the barber shop of G. R. Morris, located at 16B Cherry street. J. McDonald's home, 16 Cherry street, was also severely damaged.

ALABAMA NINE DEFEATS TECH, 8-6, IN 10 INNINGS

Tide's 9th-Inning Rally Ties Score; Winning Runs Are Brought in on Error

BY MAX THORPE.

Fighting an uphill battle, the University of Alabama nine came from behind in the ninth inning, tied the score and won the game at Grant field yesterday in the tenth when they scored two runs. The final score was 8 to 6, in favor of the Crimson.

The Jackets practically had the game in the eighth, but the visitors began to find holes in the defense of the plate in the ninth. Two more in the ninth after two men were down, tied things up. In Alabama's half of the tenth, Propst started things off by doubling to the right field stands. With one man down, Oliver drove a hot grounder at Reeves, who momentarily muffed the ball and then made a bad throw to Wycoff at first. Doug let the ball get away, and Alabama had won baseball game.

Both Enloe and Tubbs were hit rather freely, but errors were the main factor in deciding the game. Enloe had decided the best of the duel until the eighth when he scored four runs.

How Tech Scored.

The four runs came about in this way: Albright walked and went to second on Palomino's single to left. Reeves dropped a Texas Leaguer back of third, scoring Albright and sending Joe Palm to first. Enloe struck out but Morgan received a free ride to first, filling the bases. Morgan's sacrifice fly to right field Palomino's. When then cleaned the bases by a vicious liner to left that settled him on second, Baum ended matters, though when he grounded to short.

Tech scored another the following inning when Wycoff singled and went to second when Propst fumbled the ball. Captain Baum's single to right scored Wycoff. Pitts made things easy for Alabama when he made a sensational catch of Neuman's fly and snubbed Baum off first.

Pitts scored a run in the fifth when Salmon doubled after two were down and tallied when Reeves threw in. Gillis' hot grounder away. The Jackets made their final tally in the sixth when Enloe beat out an infield tap and went to second on Morgan's tap and went to second on Morgan's sacrifice. A single by Denicke sent him across with the final run of the game.

Visitors Open in Eighth.

Looked like a certain Tech victory until the eighth when the visitors began to unlimber their artillery. Cohen, the first man up, then started a double play and went to second when Denicke dropped Reeves' throw to second. Connatzer's single sent Cohen to third and Cruise to second. A short fly by Pitts and a single by Shorty Propst sent two runs across.

A hat batsman, a fielder's choice and a double by Cruise and a single by Connatzer sent the tying runs across the plate. The fatal tenth has already been explained. Alabama just outfoxed the Jackets in the latter stage of the game.

Shorty led the attack of the Bama nine by getting four safe hits out of five times up. Two of these were doubles into the stands while both of the other two were vicious knocks. Cruise made the longest hit of the evening when he leaped into one of Enloe's fast ones from the early stages of the game. Wycoff continued his heavy hitting by getting three hits out of four times up.

Johnson Puts Romero Down For Count in Seventh Round

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Ringside, Madison Square Garden, New York, May 9.—Quentin Romero, one of Tex Rickard's importations from South America for the summer trade around New York, was knocked sprawling on his face in a puddle of his own gore in the seventh round of his first fight in the United States.

Floyd Johnson, who was a hopeful aspirant for the championship a year ago, but who is now the victim of the attack of a wild horse, was picked to test Romero. He belted him with short rights to the face in the clinches and made Quentin's face an awful thing to look at before the fight had gone three rounds. Romero had the stout heart of Firpo, but very little defense, and his attack consisted of two hand swings at the face, most of which were so deliberate that they were blocked, or missed Johnson completely.

After being knocked down in the first round for a count of three by a swing to the jaw and again in the second for four nummers from a general attack, Romero gathered his strength and piled on many swings on Floyd's chin in the third round, which was so violent that it carried him to the floor. Then Floyd came to his senses, and removed himself to his own corner.

Uppercut Is Best Blow.

If Romero had known enough to quit crouching, in which position his face was an easy target for Johnson's right uppercut, he might have gone the distance, because this blow was Johnson's best weapon with it. It was the weekend when the Chilean so final finish him in bombardment of swings.

Plack Wins 'Ladies' Race'

Newmarket, England, May 9.

The "ladies' race," officially known as the "1,000 guineas," the closing classic of the Newmarket spring racing season, was won by a 8 to 1 shot, Plack, Friday afternoon.

The favorite, Mumtaz Mahal, owned by Aga Khan, the Indian prince, was second. Straitlaced was third in the field of 16 fillies.

Although known as the "1,000 guineas," this race, like the 2,000 guineas, decided a few days ago, is a $25,000 affair. However, it is a distinctive event in that it is open only to 3-year-old fillies. The distance is one mile and all the entries carry uniform weight of 126 pounds.

MURRAY'S SINGLE GIVES VOLS 11-INNING CONTEST

Big Events on Today in Conference Track Meet

Nine of 13 Institutions Entered Are Represented In Quarter and Half Mile

BY HOWARD E. PILL.

Montgomery, Ala., May 9. (Special)—One of the greatest collections of track and field talent ever gathered at a Dixie meet will scrap it out for premier honors in the finals of the semi-annual southern conference which will open Saturday at Cramton bowl, Birmingham, afternoon. Only five heats were run off in the preliminaries, the coaches deciding at a morning meeting to hold over every event possible for the big blowout Saturday.

Two heats in the quarter-mile event and three heats in the half comprised the total of activities in the local stadium Friday. Nothing of a second place was developed in any of the preliminaries. All of the half-mile jogs were well over two minutes while 51.1 by Roy of Clemson, in the first heat of the 440 was the best performance of the day. Roy, by the way, led his heat some 16 yards and was never forced to extend himself. He is sure to cause some trouble Saturday.

That the meet will be hotly contested was forecasted by the preliminaries held in the two events, nine of the 13 schools qualifying men in one or the other, Mississippi A. and M., 1923 champions, showed strong in the middle distances, placing four men today. Clemson, Georgia, Auburn and Tech qualified two each, and L. S. U. and Alabama one. Ole Miss, Tulane and Kentucky did not place. Maryland did not enter either event. North Carolina State, Florida and Vanderbilt, originally entered, did not send teams to the meet.

Oval In Fine Shape.

The cinder oval at Cramton bowl was in perfect trim Friday and with satisfactory weather prevailing Saturday track experts were free in their predictions that present southern records would be in grave danger. Exceptionally close contests in the one-mile dash and the quarter-mile dash are expected. Pepper, of the champion Mississippi Aggies; Minor, of Sewanee; Chandler, of Clemson, 1923 winner; Nelson and Greene, of Auburn; Cleckley, of Georgia, and Hussey, of Alabama, are some of the century stars expected to flash their respective stuff down the cinder straitways.

Priester, star Mississippi A. and M. weight man, and Whelchel, of Georgia Tech, are sure to furnish a scrap for javelin honors. Priester recently bettered the American javelin mark, in the Tech relay games while Whelchel copped first place here last year. These two will also tip up in the shot put with added competition from several notables, among whom are Beers, Maryland, Gatchell, of Mississippi A. and M., also run into some trouble in the distance, this was Compton of Alabama; Saunders, of Sewanee, and Campbell, L. S. U. all on hand. An other merry battle is booked for the pole vault between Locke, of Auburn, and Williams, of Tech, with several dark horses liable to step in.

Summaries.

440-yard run—First, heat, Roy, Clemson, first; Evitt, Georgia, second; Creel, Auburn, third; Hill, Georgia Tech, fourth; time, 51.1 seconds. Second heat—Miller, Kentucky, first; Veale, Georgia, second; Harmon, Mississippi A. and M., third; Roy, Clemson, L. S. U., fourth; time, 51.8 seconds.

Half-mile run, first heat—S. Robinson, Miss. A. and M., first; Hogan, Miss. A. and M., second; Stockelberg, Auburn, third; time, 2 minutes, 2 seconds. Second heat—R. Robinson, Miss. A. and M., first; Cottle, Alabama, second; S. Robinson, third; time, 2 minutes, 2 seconds.

Second heat—J. Griffin, Georgia, first; John, Tennessee, third; time, 2 minutes, 4.6 seconds. (Miss. A. and M. disqualified after leading heat.)

Stribling Due Here Today; To Be Guest at Luncheon

Young Stribling, Georgia's sensational boxer, is slated to arrive in his home town this morning at 11 o'clock from an extended tour of the east and middle west.

He will be met at the train by a delegation from the Junior Chamber of Commerce of which he is a member. The entire family, Ma, Stribling, Pa, Stribling and the youngster, will be guests at a luncheon at the Kimball house, given by the junior chamber.

The Atlanta boy is now ready for his 10-round bout with Dan O'Dowd, the Boston boxer, which is tentatively set for the Southern Athletic club's next show at the auditorium, May 20.

This match is attracting considerable attention and Promoter Holt Geewinner is preparing to handle a record breaking crowd. Orders for reservations are pouring in from all sections of Georgia.

Tickets are now on sale at Chess Place, Rex Saloon and the club office.

Spots 17 Strokes.

In the second flight Mrs. McAuliffe again demonstrated her ability to give a flock of strokes and win.

Mrs. McAuliffe gave away 11 strokes to her opponent the previous day, and won on the eighteenth green.

Mrs. McAuliffe won yesterday and was conceding her opponent 17 strokes.

This was one of the best matches played, and one of the biggest stroke allowances made during the tournament.

The first hole was halved, Mrs. McAuliffe's stroke counting.

Mrs. McAuliffe went one up on the second, the only hole that she didn't give a stroke on. Mrs. Gabelman squared the match on three without the stroke.

Mrs. Gabelman won the fourth without the stroke, going one up. The stroke gave Mrs. Gabelman a halve on five. Mrs. Gabelman won the sixth without the stroke, going two up. Mrs. McAuliffe won the seventh.

Mrs. Gabelman's stroke gave her a halve on the eighth and ninth.

One Down at Turn.

Mrs. McAuliffe was one down at the turn.

Mrs. McAuliffe halved the tenth hole with a 20-foot putt, Mrs. Gabelman's stroke counting. Mrs. McAuliffe squared the match on the eleventh, and went one up on the twelfth. Mrs. Gabelman drove two balls out of bounds from the tee.

Mrs. Gabelman's stroke gave her a halve on the thirteenth.

The fifteenth went to Mrs. Gabelman without the stroke and the match was squared again.

Mrs. McAuliffe went one up when she won the sixteenth with a long putt from the edge of the green.

The sixteenth was halved, Mrs. Gabelman's stroke counting. Mrs. Gabelman squared the match on the seventeenth with a par five, only to lose on the eighteenth green one up.

This tournament was the first match play affair the Atlanta Womans' Golf Association has sponsored this year, and was one of the most successful that has been staged in Atlanta in several months.

Mrs. T. T. Williams, the association's representative at Brookhaven, had charge of the tournament.

The fifteenth was halved with 4s.

On the sixteenth Miss Mayer's drive was well up the fairway, but she used a brassie and came out with a fine shot near the green. Mrs. Williams was in the rough to the left and came out with a fine iron shot. Both were on the green in 3 and halved the hole with 4s.

Editor Will Spend 85th Birthday at Office Desk

Captain Rule, of Knoxville, will be as busy today as when he was greenest of cubs.

Knoxville, Tenn., May 9.—(Special)—Eighty-five years young today, Captain William Rule, the oldest active editor in the United States, will celebrate his birthday by doing the thing that he loves best of all. Which is to say he will reach the postoffice a little after 8 o'clock, open his own box, take out—an armful of "exchanged" mail to the office. The Knoxville (Tenn.) News and Tribune, climb the steep steps to the editorial floor, sent himself at the typewriter and began to peck away the words that will be read in 30,000 homes next day. At noon he will walk across the street for a bite of lunch, go to the post office again and return to his desk. At 5:30 o'clock he will go home and read The New York Times.

Until a few months ago, every night found Captain Rule at his desk until 9 o'clock, reading his own proofsheets. He had really been persuaded to entrust this part of the job to others.

Unlike the rest of the force, Captain Rule has no "day off." On Sunday his schedule is much the same. For the readers of a morning newspaper expect their paper every morning and they would miss Captain Rule's editorials if he took even one day off in the week. That is one reason. The other is that Captain Rule, who is writing them now, less than the people would miss reading them. It is his life.

Not so long ago Captain Rule said: "If I knew tomorrow would be my last day on earth and if I were able to come down town, I'd be right at my old desk and my typewriter when 'time' was called. I'd rather go that way," he said simply.

Young in Thoughts.

Captain Rule is really young despite his years. He keeps young in his thoughts by taking keenest interest in everything. He keeps his body as young as may be by playing golf at least once a week. This is one of his associates. In fact, he and one of his associates play in the annual Cherokee Country club, walking perhaps five miles up and down hills and around the courses and at the end Captain Rule was fresher than his younger companion.

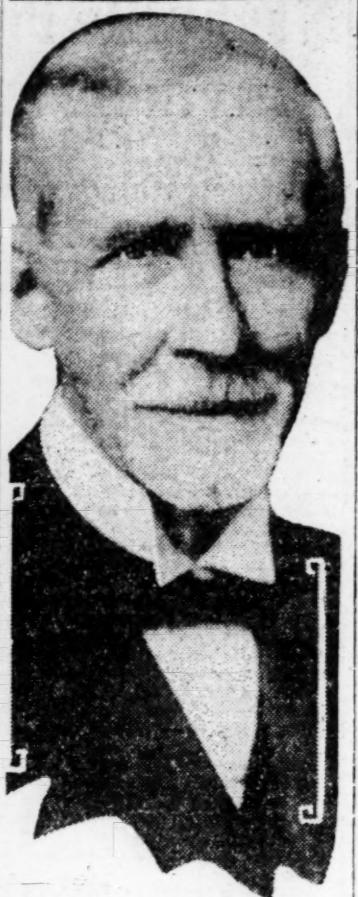

On his 83rd birthday he played 27 holes—more than the average player cares to undertake. Perhaps the period of his life, in recent years at least, that he enjoyed the most when his desk was his was when he visited Adolph Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, at the latter's country home at Lake George, and played golf every day.

Not many people know that Adolph Ochs started in the newspaper profession under Captain Rule. It was back in the 70's when Captain Rule had the old Knoxville Chronicle. Adolph Ochs came to him one day and said, "Captain Rule, what can you do?" "Nothing," said the boy, "but wait out the office to begin with until I learn more." Captain Rule took him at his word and thus began a friendship and mutual admiration that has continued for 50 years. Today Adolph Ochs and Adolph Ochs' newspaper are present to Captain Rule the best there is in the profession, and if Adolph Ochs were asked to name the newspaper men whom he regards most highly, Captain Rule would be at least among the first.

Reminder of Age.

One day Captain Rule and an associate, returning from the golf club, passed the University of Tennessee. Pointing to the great trees on the campus, Captain Rule remarked: "There is the only thing that reminds me I am not as young as I once was. I was secretary of the board of trustees of the university when those trees were planted."

One of the many remarkable characteristics of Captain Rule is his memory. If one of his editorials is omitted owing to exigencies of makeup, Captain wants to know why—not kindly—but just as a matter of keeping up with what goes on. If a look is taken from his office makes a mental note. If it doesn't reappear in a few days he gently reminds the borrower.

There's no telling how far back the evidence of Captain Rule's memory extends. At least it goes back to the time of the Civil war when as regimental adjutant in the Union army he knew every man in his regiment and called three-fourths of them by their given names.

The Civil war period marks the only intermission in his newspaper career, which began on "Parson" Brown's Whig, in 1860. He was a Union soldier and is a republican. He is loved by Democrats and republicans alike, and his best friends are the Confederate soldiers.

Positive and unflinching though he may be, Captain Rule never fails to give the subject of his criticism a fair statement. He does not countenance any tendency of any one to "color" news or to omit any news development that might be in conflict with the editorial policy of the paper.

Lovable and loved by all who know him, what makes natural about him is that he is a sweetheart, and he is. Fact. She was his sweetheart more than 66 years ago and is still his sweetheart. Her name then was Lucy Maxey. It is now and has been since October 28, 1858, Mrs. William Rule. In bad weather when he goes to his office with a snug, well-buttoned coat and warm clothes, he is wont to smilily complain of government by women, by his wife and two daughters, especially what his wife says now. All you married men know that is. His wife is a beautiful commentary on constancy, on the keeping of marriage vows to be true to each other until both the twain part.

Captain Rule was born in a log cabin seven miles south of Knoxville on May 10, 1833. Coming from Virginia soon after the close of the war of 1812, Michael Rule, grandfather of William Rule, located in the Hixson settlement, now Stock Creek, in the old 14th district of Knox county, and built a cabin for himself and wife. A year later, a son, Frederick, was born. With prosperity and increasing family Michael Rule built a larger and more comfortable home about half a mile from the old log cabin. Growing to young manhood, Frederick Rule married Sarah Elizabeth Brakebell and the young couple moved into the log cabin that had been erected by Michael Rule. To this union were born seven children, four sons and three daughters, the eldest child being the subject of this sketch.

Marietta in 1858.
On October 28, 1858, William Rule, not yet 20 years old, and Miss Maxey, daughter of Shadrach and Mary Maxey, were united in marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Hayes. Mr. Hayes being an uncle of Miss Maxey and Mrs. Hayes an aunt of Mr. Rule. The officiating minister was Rev. W. L. Dowell, a Methodist minister, who, as circuit rider, preached at the New Salem church, located in the Rule's settlement, both Mr. and Mrs. Hayes being members of that church. Of the large number of friends and relatives who witnessed the ceremony H. B. Rule, of Knoxville, is the only one living.

Shortly afterward Mr. and Mrs. Rule moved to Knoxville where for a short time Mr. Rule was engaged in business with a relative. In November of 1860 Mr. Rule entered the employ of "Parson" William G. Brownlow, editor and publisher of the Knoxville Whig. The conflict between north and south, and in September of 1862 William Rule entered the Union army as a private in Company "A," Sixth Tennessee infantry, and Mrs. Rule, with her two small children, James, Frederick and Cora, an infant, returned to the country where they remained until after the war was over. Before entering the army Mr. Rule had a drilling experience. Railroad bridges in east Tennessee had been burned by Union sympathizers, much to the anger of the Confederates. Brownlow was forced to close down his paper indefinitely. Mr. Rule setting the type for the last editorial, and seek safety in Sevier county. Knoxville was placed under martial law by the Confederates and no one could leave the city without a pass. It was deemed essential by his friends that Mr. Brownlow should be notified of Confederate activities and they desired that Rule was the man to notify him. But how about a pass? Col. E. J. Sanford, father of A. F. Sanford, now publisher of The Journal and Tribune, solved the problem. Colonel Sanford was then running a mill on First creek and knew he said, the most amphibious person he ever saw, one John Jackson, whom he had safely convoy Captain Rule across the river. But the danger was not over.

Loyal Unionists between Knoxville and the mountains of Sevier were expecting Confederates with a view to the capture of "Parson" Brownlow and every stranger was suspected, so at the point of rifles held in the grasp of those who knew how to use them, Rule told of his mission. Having delivered his message to the "Parson," Rule remained at home until he crossed the mountains into Kentucky to enter the Union army. Shortly afterward Rule was made a first lieutenant of his company and still later a second adjutant. Shortly afterward Lieutenant Rule returned here on a two-fold mission—to see how trout in the larger streams.

his wife and babies and to secure recruits. He had a narrow escape from capture by the Confederates.

Mustered Out.
Mustered out of service on April 27, 1865, at Nashville, Tenn., and accompanied by his friend and comrade, Captain H. C. Dunn, Captain Rule became a special correspondent for newspapers in Nashville, Memphis, Cincinnati and New York. That same year he entered the race for county court clerk of Knox county, was elected and, after being re-elected, resigned in 1870 to re-enter journalism, establishing The Knoxville Chronicle. Meantime, however, when The Knoxville Whig was changed from a weekly to a daily newspaper, Captain Rule, who had been working on the weekly, was made city editor of The Daily Whig, keeping up this work in addition to his duties as county court clerk. Except for the time The Chronicle was edited by Governor Brownlow, after the expiration of his term as United States senator in 1873, until the death of Brownlow two years later, Captain Rule did all the editorial work on The Chronicle—until 1882, when he sold his interest in that paper.

It was while Captain Rule was publishing The Knoxville Chronicle that he had in his employ as "devil" Adolph S. Ochs, now owner and publisher of The New York Times, regarded as one of the world's greatest newspapers. On leaving Captain Rule, Ochs was voluntarily given the following letter of recommendation which he still possesses and highly prizes:

Knoxville, Tenn., October 4, 1875.

"Adolph S. Ochs has been in my employ for more than two years and I have found him honest, zealous, reliable and trustworthy. He is quick to comprehend and faithful to execute whatever he may be entrusted with. He is endowed with an intellect capable of reaching the highest point in mental achievement. He is a very meritorious young man. As such I cordially recommend him to all with whom he may come in contact."

of Denmark, Mr. Large alluded in detail to the wonderful progress of the sale of the Christmas seal at the Atlanta postoffice. He indicated the appearance of the Atlanta seal having been the host of such a guest present.

Postmaster in Denmark.

Rinan Holboell is the name of the distinguished gentleman from Denmark, whose idea has spread around the world, resulting in this country last season in raising more than $4,000,000. His home, where he is postmaster of the city, is at Charlottenburg, a suburb of Copenhagen.

From far country, I come," he said, "yet it is a very great pleasure to find that the little bit of an idea that I had long ago has grown to such an enormous thing. To think of the countries that have adopted Christmas seals is simply to spell the lexicon of the civilized nations."

"I am an employee of the first engineering department of the government, and have been all my life working. When I was engaged in throwing Christmas post cards, almost 20 years ago, into their bags, I was away from home and family. Though my country is small, and its largest city is not much greater than a small city here, it seemed to me that the moral effort made was wholly inadequate to result. People paid one cent to mail post cards which after all did nothing to benefit humanity, but only relieved themselves of a lot of surplus emotional impulse. It was thus that I conceived the idea of the Christmas seal in my own country.

I am astounded at the results here in the United States, of little bit of a thought that came into my mind when I was only a postoffice clerk in Denmark.

Hears Nashville Nurse.

Friday afternoon the delegates listened to several addresses by prominent tuberculosis workers. Mattie E. Coleman, of Nashville, Tenn., recited her experiences in country case finding.

ing, indicating that the nurses in tuberculosis work must confer with many boards of directors of local organizations, social workers, church folks and friends of the patients in order to approach her highest efficiency.

The morning at the tabernacle, Dr. Charles R. Grandy of Norfolk, Va., will talk on "Racial Characteristics as the Cause of the Large Death Rate From Tuberculosis Among Negroes," and Dr. Godwin J. Drolot, of New York, will discuss the factor of inherited immunity or predisposition to the disease.

MARINES TO OBSERVE MOTHER'S DAY SUNDAY

Marines and ex-marines of Atlanta and vicinity and members of the Marcus W. Beck, Jr., detachment of the Marine Corps league will celebrate "Mother's Day" Sunday, when they will attend morning services at the West End Christian church, Dunn and Gordon streets. The service will be conducted by Rev. John G. Ferguson. Members of the detachment are requested to meet at the Forsyth street entrance of the postoffice building at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, wearing the appropriate flower in honor of their mothers.

DRUID HILLS PASTOR ADDRESSES CIVILIANS

Rev. Charles A. Campbell, pastor of Druid Hills Presbyterian church, made a talk on "Sand" at the Civitan club meeting at Ansley hotel Friday. He likened the human being to locomotive, by comparing sand to vegetation. An assessment of $1 per member was made to defray expenses of Miss Harriet Wilkinson, club secretary, to the Civitan convention in Miami May 15-17. Ten members of the club, with their wives, were appointed to act as hosts and hostesses Friday night. May 16, during the Better Homes week.

Plan To Improve Terminal Station; Bonds To Be Asked

The Georgia public service commission was notified Friday by the Atlanta Terminal company that it would request permission of the state of Georgia to issue bonds to finance a proposed remodeling of the terminal station.

Some time ago it was announced that complete remodeling of the structure was contemplated, including installation of "butterfly" type sheds, extension of switching tracks beyond the Peters street viaduct and replacement of steps to the platforms with ramps.

CARNIVAL ON DECATUR SQUARE GIVEN TODAY

A street carnival will be given today on the courthouse square at Decatur from noon to 10 o'clock in the evening, under the auspices of the D. A. R., the Parent-Teacher association, the Woman's club and the U. D. C. for the benefit of the basketball pavilion.

Music will be provided all afternoon by the band of the Georgia Hallway and Power company. A barbecue dinner will be served at noon, followed by a musical program by the Decatur public schools. Regular carnival attractions, consisting of a Punch and Judy show, shooting gallery, country store and various kinds of booths, will attract the crowd.

At 7:30 o'clock in the evening a minstrel will be given by the senior high school. Open-air dancing will be featured at 9 o'clock.

Agnes Scott Junior Feigns Appointment With Dentist, Elopement

Miss Rosamond Neisler, 22-year-old Agnes Scott junior, of Reynolds, Ga., and Van A. Clark, 35, were married in Atlanta Thursday afternoon, following the bride's announcement before leaving the college that she had an appointment with her dentist.

After the ceremony, news of which reached Agnes Scott Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Clark left for Cincinnati, the home of the bride's mother. Her father is a wealthy peach grower of Reynolds, Ga.

The elopement of Miss Neisler created a buzz on the campus of the college, where she was a popular student.

Dr. McCain, president of the college, stated that he had been told that the girl's mother had agreed to the match, and that it was not a surprise to her.

Hapeville Community Sing.

The regular community singing at Hapeville will be held at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Professor George S. Lee will be in charge. Several other leaders will be present. The public is invited to attend.

BOB-HAIR BANDIT EXITS FROM VIEW AS IN GETAWAY

Auburn, N. Y., May 9.—The end of the long, long trail found Celia Cooney, Brooklyn's bobbed hair bandit, a grimly taciturn girl, bent on bunting the curious crowds that formerly held her interest, and ready to serve out her sentence of ten to two years in the Auburn women's prison.

Celia arrives here late Friday from New York, in the custody of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Marlow, keeper and matron of the prison.

As the erstwhile bandit stepped from the train she brushed quickly past a bevy of cameramen who sought to snap her picture, dashed through the station to a waiting taxi, and was whisked off to the prison. Her arrival was the subject of intense interest, and thwarted all efforts of photographers. Her exit from the outside world was reminiscent of her famous getaways.

Adams and Wilkinson Attending Boy Scout Meeting in St. Louis

Albert S. Adams, president of the Atlanta Council of Boy Scouts, and Melt R. Wilkinson, director on the national executive body, are attending the annual meeting of the national council being held today in St. Louis.

Statistics read at the first meeting of the session Friday showed that Atlanta has 65 troops of scouts, with a combined membership of 14,300.

Beautiful May Day Fete
At Washington Seminary

A beautiful al fresco affair of Friday afternoon was the annual May day festival at Washington Seminary on Peachtree road.

The picturesquely lawn of the handsome school made a beautiful setting for the patriotic dances which were given around the flower-decked May pole, in the presence of the queen and her court.

The stately throne with its background of lattice work, enlivened with roses, sunflax and trailing vines, was outlined with graceful white columns garlanded with vines and clusters of spring flowers.

Heralding the approach of the queen was Miss Doughty Manley, mounted on a white horse, and wearing the suit of a page, of white satin, with gold braid trimmings.

Maid of Honor.

The maid of honor was Miss Catherine Candler and Misses Marion Wolfe, Virginia Dabney and Adeline Winston were maids representing the junior, sophomore and freshman classes.

Miss Candler was beautifully dressed in white crepe, fashioned along straight lines and carried an arm bouquet of pastel-shaded spring flowers.

The members of the senior class formed the court and were dressed in fashionable costumes of chiffon in

Former Atlanta
Belle Is Feted
During Visit

Two lovely parties were given on Friday with Mrs. William J. McKenna, of Boston and Prides Crossing, Mass., as central figure. Mrs. McKenna, formerly Miss Isoline Campbell of Atlanta, has been delightfully entertained for a week as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Bulow Campbell.

Mrs. Thomas Dunham was hostess at an informal luncheon given at the Piedmont Driving club.

Luncheon was served at a table placed in the rose room of the club and adorned in the center with a silver basket of pink roses and lavender iris. The place cards bore the hostess' monogram in gold.

Friday afternoon Mrs. McKenna dined with Mrs. Raymond Demere, of Savannah, at the tea at which Mrs. Dorothy Herman Stringfellow entertained at her home on East Seventh street.

A silver vase of pink peonies, roses and iris formed the decorations of the daintily appointed tea table.

Mrs. Stringfellow was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Harry Harman, and her sister, Mrs. Harry Harman, Jr.

Mrs. Robert Marshall will entertain at a luncheon Saturday at her home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Charles Cook Is Hostess Friday.

A lovely event of Friday was the informal bridge-luncheon at which Mrs. Charles Cook entertained at her home on Peachtree road.

Girl Scouts Will Participate In Better Homes Exhibit

BY LEONORA ANDERSON.

With sports and dancing and business careers crowding the lives of the feminine half of the population it is exceedingly difficult to find a place for young girls learning the old-fashioned art of home making.

The Girl Scouts, who are thorough little housekeepers in their homes, begin Monday, May 11, and lasting through May 18, in the two model homes to be exhibited at this time as Better Homes. The part which the Girl Scouts will play in Better Homes week is a big part and one which they can carry out with splendid effect.

In the homes, one at 212 Virginia and one at 281 Dill avenue, two Girl Scouts will be on duty in each room of the homes every afternoon. Mrs. Frank Naegele, who is the official hostess at the Dill avenue home, will have the capable help of the little girls who are such ardent advocates of better homes for America.

Demonstrations.

The demonstrations will be made in this wise. In the bedrooms two scouts will show the proper way to make a bed, both the ordinary kind of bed and a hospital bed. They will also demonstrate their ability at sewing and handwork. In the nursery child care will be demonstrated as it has been taught to the scouts. They will show what it is to bathe, to feed babies, to care for children at the wiggle-some and fidgety age will be amused by these two scouts in the nursery with games and stories. (A difficult task, as any mother will admit. But it does not frighten a scout.) The proper way to wash glassware will be demonstrated in the kitchen. Little girls in the kitchen will also show how to press and arrange flowers for the other rooms, thus combining artistic taste with careful practical sense in the kitchen. On special days the Girl Scouts will demonstrate their culinary art. The best method of cleaning silver will be demonstrated in the kitchen. Little girls in the kitchen will also show how to press and arrange flowers for the other rooms, thus combining artistic taste with careful practical sense in the kitchen.

The regular monthly meeting of the Temple Sisterhood will be held at the temple on Pryor street Monday, May 12, at 3:15 o'clock. An election of officers will be held, and as this is the last meeting of the season, a large attendance is urged.

There will be different girls on duty every day, and they will show to the Atlanta public just what it means to be a Girl Scout, and the true meaning of better homes. The Girl Scout is just as good a sportswoman as can be found in the land. She is an ardent supporter of nature study and out-of-door activities. But with it all she has not forgotten the cultivation of the housewifely arts which "make a home a Heaven, and help us on our way."

EXPLAINS SHOALS BID OF CARBIDE COMPANY

Washington, May 9.—S. Cressy Morrison, representing the Union Carbide company, resuming his testimony at today's Muscle Shoals hearing before the Senate agriculture committee, said he did not agree with previous testimony that nitrate plant No. 2 would have to be rebuilt at a cost of $59,000,000, which would have to be charged against the cost of fertilizer. "The new fertilizer, he said, "plant could be used to produce urea, the new fertilizer proposed by the Carbide company."

On the other hand, he said, plant No. 1 was inadequate and suitable only for experimental work and would have to be reconstructed to produce fertilizer.

Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, declared the carbide company in his bid did not propose to put up capital, and asserted that if the government was to put up all the money he "could see no reason why the government shouldn't operate the property in its own way and get all the profits."

McMullan replied that the carbide company agrees to put in $10,000,000 at once and add to it as needed. He said he believed $10,000,000 would eventually have to be put up by the company.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Me.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a Godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. JOSE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 98 out of every 100 were benefited by it.

Georgia Boy Wins Diplomacy Course To New York School

Savannah, Ga., May 9.—(Special.) Edward P. Lawton, Jr., whose home is at Gordonston, Savannah, and who is at present a student at the University of Georgia, has been awarded one of the four $1,000 scholarships in diplomacy, international affairs and belles-lettres provided in the will of the late Fredrick W. Penfield, ambassador to Austria. It was announced today by Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown, of New York university. Under the terms of the scholarship Lawton, who is the son of Major Edward P. Lawton, U. S. A., retired with a rank of captain in the graduate school of New York university.

Ambassador Penfield, who was interested in raising the standards of the American diplomatic service, left $80,000 to New York university, the income from which was to provide additional scholarships in the subjects named. Mr. Lawton is one of four winners of the four-year group to receive the first having been made a year ago. Other winners this year are Francis E. Taylor, of the University of Oregon; Charles G. Weher, Coe college, Iowa, and Miss Mildred Moulton, University of California. Miss Moulton was awarded one of the scholarships a year ago, and because of the break in the group she was the first to receive the award in recent years. This year, she is lifting herself for the teaching of diplomacy and international affairs.

Mr. Lawton has spoken Spanish and French since he was a small boy. He was a student in Porto Rican schools for several years and then went to high school in Switzer land. Returning to America he attended Western High school, in Washington, D. C., and Stuyvesant school at Warrenton, Va.

Returning to Europe, he spent a year in the College of Geneva, and in the summer of 1921 was a tyro at the army headquarters in Belgium. He returned to America, the University of Georgia, but transferred to the University of Georgia after one term.

In the summer of 1922 he was appointed a computer in the Coast and Geodetic Survey in Washington, and following the summer was spent in the service of the district government in Washington. In addition to his studies in the University of Georgia, he is also teaching commercial geography and economic history of the United States.

Mrs. Mueller, Pupils Give Artist Recital At Steinway Hall

That Atlanta is taking a prominent place musically among the larger cities was proven by the interest shown in the artist concert sponsored by Mrs. Kurt Mueller at Steinway hall.

The opening number, Mozart's E minor sonata for violin and piano, by Miss Senta Mueller and Kurt Mueller was a work of art.

The bridal chorus from the opera "Matzswintha" by a group of artist pupils of Mrs. Mueller, with Mrs. Mueller as soloist, was able to present a charming and remarkable work and their accomplishment was splendid. The alto solo by Mrs. Mueller displayed full, rich voice, and was rendered with a big, flowing melody.

Mrs. Mueller added materially to the program by giving piano solo, "Funeralies," by Liszt, which was performed with artistry. Three vocal duets, "Quando Corpus," from "Stabat Mater," by Palestrina; "Salut à Riga," from "Mozart" and "Romantic Life," by Schumann, were pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Mueller and her daughter, Miss Gretel Mueller. Miss Mueller has made a specialty of the Mozart art of singing and possesses a sweet lyric voice.

Miss Senta Mueller, a young violinist of considerable promise, gave a capable and interesting interpretation of "Berceuse" and a "Gavotte" by Michelangelo. The soloing number, "Nature and Love," by Tchaikowsky, is a lovely, tuneful novelty and was well presented. The soloists, Misses Hazel Hiddleston and Eunice Peters, sopranos, and Miss Stella Deyerle, alto, deserve praise for the careful thought and earnest work in their part of the program. The accompaniments were artistically performed by Kurt Mueller.

CAPTURED SNAKE IS PET

Sylvania, Ga., May 9.—(Special.) Jim Sauls, Sylvania lumberman, captured a strange pet in the woods near here, and in the shape of a large king snake. Mr. Sauls rides his snake about in the seat of his automobile, beside him.

MISS ANNIBEL PHELT, MACON TEACHER, DIES

Sylvania, Ga., May 9.—(Special.) Jim Sauls, Sylvania lumberman, captured a strange pet in the woods near here, and in the shape of a large king snake. Mr. Sauls rides his snake about in the seat of his automobile, beside him.

MISS ANNIBEL PHELT, MACON TEACHER, DIES

Sylvania, Ga., May 9.—(Special.) Miss Annibel Lamar Phelt, for 20 years a teacher in the Bibb county public schools, died here today at her home. Miss Phelt's last school assignment was in departmental work in the seventh grade of the John W. B. Phelt school.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. E. C. Phelt. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon and interment will be at Rose Hill cemetery.

SUIT TO DISSOLVE MERGER DISMISSED

New York, May 9.—The suit brought to dissolve the merger of the Cambria Steel company and the Middle Steel and Ordnance company was dismissed today by Federal Judge Louis Hand.

Technically, the dismissal consisted of the granting of a motion to quash a subpoena served on the Bethlehem Steel corporation, one of the defendants.

Screen Plans Bridge.

Sylvania, Ga., May 9.—(Special.) Screen county commissioners are advertising for bids for the construction of a concrete bridge over Beaver Dam creek at Jacksonboro, on the Sylvania-Waynesboro highway. Bids will be received until noon on May 20. Jacksonboro is one of the old historic spots in Screen. For a long time, before the civil war, it was the county seat.

425 DELEGATES, CLAIM OF M'ADOO MANAGER

Chicago, May 9.—A total of 425 delegates favorable to the candidacy of William Gibbs McAdoo for the democratic presidential nomination was claimed tonight in a statement by David L. Rockwell, chairman of the McAdoo-for-President committee, upon his return from an eastern trip.

He declared Mr. McAdoo had annexed new strength of 158 delegates in the past ten days.

In this total, the statement concluded, "McAdoo's fast the components of Mr. McAdoo are gradually turning from candidate to candidate in an effort to discover some one with whom, for their own unbalanced purposes, they can defeat him."

Mr. Rockwell left tonight for Memphis to meet Mr. McAdoo for a two-day Tennessee tour.

CLAIM VICTORY IN TEXAS SPEECH.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, May 9.—William G. McAdoo, on his way to Tennessee to deliver campaign speeches, addressed a crowd from the rear platform of his train here today and declared the Texas "spirit and inspiration" would make him president as it had Woodrow Wilson.

McAdoo recalled how the Texas delegation "stood like the Rock of Gibraltar" at the Baltimore convention that nominated Woodrow Wilson.

A cordial letter of greeting from Governor Neff, who was out of the city, was delivered to McAdoo. The governor, who had assailed Mr. McAdoo throughout Texas as an "unfit" for the party nomination, said in a letter that "democrats of Texas frequently fight among themselves, but when the party speaks, contending factions cease."

"The Humming Bird."

(At the Lyric) Maude Fulton's sensational dramatic romance, "The Humming Bird," will be presented again at the Lyric theater this afternoon and tonight.

John Craven's great comedy of young married life is to open for a week with the "Ladies' Bargain Night" performance Monday. It is the first year, a John L. Golden production. Miss Isabel Lyles is to be the bride and Wilfred Lytle the young husband. The honest-to-goodness realism of the play makes it the funniest ever seen here.

Keith's Vaudeville.

(At Keith's Fortyeth) Chief Capucin is proving a sensation at Keith's. Forsteth theater the last of this week, where with his rich, baritone voice that has thrilled his lovers throughout the country, he is headlining the excellent program of vaudeville.

Also the bill includes the novel act of Alfred Latell and Elsie Vokes, the former being the world's greatest animal actor. Steele and Winslow, a skating innovation while still in their skins, do a little bit of this and a little bit of that in their skit entitled "The Chick and the Chick," and more.

"Daddies."

(At the Howard) The Howard theater presents for the last time today, David Belasco's famous stage play, "Daddies," featuring Mae Murray and Harry Myers.

"Daddies" is a clean, sparkling comedy of bachelor life, presented with a splendid cast. The story centers around a college bachelor club that has been going for some years. The fall and decline of the noble institution is caused by the members of the club decide to adopt some war or phans. The experiences of the five father daddies are extremely funny and furnish a large share of the comedy.

Stock Letter.

FENNER & BEANE. New York, May 9.—Heavy selling of Yellow Cab Manufacturing company by the stock down 4 points. On May 1 sold down a dollar from last night's close on a few hundred shares. International Harvester, down 75c, still trading. On the present movement, S. T. U. sold ex-div. 25c, and the new ex-div. $1. los. on the 25th. The Iron Pipe company continued under pressure all day, closing at 83c, after specialties did little and taken all in all, it was the dullest day we have seen in a long time. Total sales amounting to only 463,000 shares.

Cotton Letters.

New York, May 9.—The gap between two crops has been closed, and from the fresh purchases of consequence on an old crop basis, but will count for very little with those who are endeavoring to make a market for the new crop. It is in their control and in large measure does not exist. It looks that blind confidence in the new crop, the new ex-div. and the new ex-div. $1. los. on the 25th, the Iron Pipe continued under pressure all day, closing at 83c, after specialties did little and taken all in all, it was the dullest day we have seen in a long time. Total sales amounting to only 463,000 shares.

FENNER & BEANE.

New Orleans, May 9.—The notable feature of the weekend and figures was the large taking by foreign mills which took 125,000 tons last week. It is the increased sales of foreign mills that has recently kept the market up, ahead of the new crop, several weeks. The new crop and weather over the weekend. Any improvement in the weather outlook is apt to weaken the market movement and stimulate the price of American compared with 90,000 last year. July sold at 29.5 and October at 25.35, the market closing at nearly the best.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.

New York, May 9.—Spot cotton steady; middling 31.67.

TO FINISH AT N. O.

New Orleans, May 9.—The cotton market was active from start to finish. Prices tended upward practically all day except for an abortive attempt at reaction about the middle of the morning. The feature of the day was the strength of near positions. Although trading in May was not heavy, that month, nevertheless, advanced to 30.52 and closed at that figure, showing net gains of an even 140 points. July advanced to 29.5, having an short covering reaching 28.85 at the very end or 98 points higher. October advanced to 24.62 and December to 24.40, or 72 and 75 points above the previous close. The close was at or near the highest, showing net gains for the day of 70 to 100 points.

The start was active and 20 to 21 points higher on good Liverpool cables and reports of cool rains in Texas. When the market was posted later, showing rains in the central and western belt and low temperatures everywhere, the advance was accelerated, and the market was kept on the up-grade most of the morning by a forecast for unsettled weather in the central and western portions of the belt.

There was an attempt on the part of shorts to cause a reaction on the middle of the market, but they had little success, as the publication of liberal mill takings for the week—159,000 bales against 172,000 last year—rendered their efforts abortive and brought on liberal covering, particularly in the July position, which continued to the close. The covering of July was on the tightest positions and the strength of spots, creating a fear of a squeeze in one or the other of the near months, or in both. Warehouse stocks in New York are now down to 54,000 bales, and the certified stock there is probably lower than that. The certified stock here has been reduced to negligible proportions by recent outward shipments.

The cold temperatures and cold rains have caused genuine alarm among traders as to the new crop, it being recognized that cotton cannot make any progress with such protracted cold weather so late in the season.

COTTON ADVANCES
$4.50 PER BALE
DURING FRIDAY

Spot cotton in Atlanta Friday was quoted at 31.75, or an advance over Thursday's closing of $4.50 per bale. New York futures closed from 39 to 40 over Thursday's closing, with May reaching 31.35, or 118 points, New Orleans closed 70 to 100 up.

The cold wave sweeping over the cotton belt, trade buying and activity of professional operators is given as the reason for the sharp advances. Spinners are taking heavy shipments, it is stated, while European news Friday was considered very favorable. These factors operated mainly to advance the price.

Fish Jam Waters Near Panama City

All Constitution Tourists
Will Need To Do Is To
Shoo 'Em to Shore, Say
Florida Boosters.

BY O. J. WISLOUGHBY,
Editor Constitution Highway Department.

"There are so many fish around Panama City that all you have to do is jump in the water and shoo 'em off on the beach."

That is the latest report from the Florida city in which members of The Constitution's big fishing tour will spend the greater part of the week of May 17-23. Now, of course these tourists are inclined to exaggerate a bit in the interests of their fair city, but on the whole their enthusiastic reports are borne out by Atlanta anglers who have recently returned from the section. The waters are teeming with good big ones, they say, and you can haul them in until you are tired.

Bring Out Tackle Box.

So it's about time to bring out the tackle box, untangle your hooks, test the best method of catching bass, for this you will need a short bait-casting rod, a braided casting line and a few good plugs or spinners. Bass will also rise to a fly and a fly rod of course, will give excellent sport. Still fishing with minnows will yield a good catch, and for this 1-0 or 2-0 hooks will serve. Bream and perch should also be found in the water, and perhaps pike. For the latter use a large hook and a wire leader, for the pike's sharp teeth will make short work of an unguarded line.

Tackle is made in such variety these days that there is something suited to the purse of almost anyone. And the fellow with the jointed cane pole costing about a dollar, may bring home the biggest fish."

Men's Novel Lead.

While fishing is the main purpose of the tour, a full program of entertainment has been planned by residents of Panama City. Dances, fish dinners, surf bathing and steamer

Fish which nibble at the hooks of the women of the tour are not going to get away if M. Greer can help it. Trips are included in the festivities to be given the Atlanta tourists. The ladies, who for a time were in the majority on the list of applicants, but who are now well outnumbered by the men, will find that every preparation has been made for their entertainment.

Following is a brief resume of the highlights of the tour:

Tour leaves Atlanta about 7 a.m. Saturday, May 17, and returns May 23. Members may retrace before or after the official distance to Panama City, 357 miles.

Fast cars will be grouped into one section to reach Panama City, noon, May 18. Other cars 8 p.m., May 18.

Pathfinders cars will pilot each division. Mechanics and tire changers will accompany the tour. The stops to be made for the comfort of tour members.

Hotel accommodations, en route, and at St. Andrews bay have been arranged by The Constitution, and are being allotted members as applications are accepted. Hotel and boarding houses from $1.50 per day to $5 per day.

The city of Columbia, Ala., will accept the official tour badge as a pass over their toll bridge across the Chattahoochee river.

Panama City will entertain the entire party for a one-day boat excursion and fish fry.

A complete moving picture show will be given at the show by Lowe's Grand theater for one full week following the tour.

The official badge to be worn by tour members will be the only permit or license required for fresh water fishing in Bay county during the tour.

Several enterprising cities and towns en route will provide refreshments.

Waterproof celluloid badges and metal name plates will be furnished each member of the tour.

Banners will be provided for the front of all cars. Distinctive banners will also be provided for the rear of each car in the tour.

APPEAL IN SENTENCE OF ANDERSON FILED

New York, May 9.—An appeal from the prison sentence of from one to two years which William H. Anderson, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league for this state, is now serving in Sing Sing for third degree forgery, was filed in the appellate division of the supreme court today.

The papers were filed by a representative of former Governor Charles S. Whitman, Anderson's counsel. Mr. Whitman, it was learned, intends to move for a preference, which would bring the appeal up for argument within a short time, probably resulting in a trial before the higher court adjourns for the summer.

In the usual routine of case procedure, the appeal would not be argued for several months and Anderson's term, which with allowance for good behavior would expire next Christmas day, would have been served before a decision could be reached.

At the meeting of the police committee tonight it is predicted that efficient use of departmental funds, that the man be given committal papers and assigned to work to which they are best suited. The chief therefore ordered the men separated, detailing one of the men to the morning watch and allowing the other to stay on the evening watch.

Mr. Greer, in addition to being a prominent jeweler and president of the Greer Manufacturing company, is the inventor of a patented lever fish hook, one of which he will present to each woman taking the trip. Police Captain
WILL BE ELECTED

That Sergeant S. J. ("Bud") Roberts, former Detective Chief A. Lamar Poole or Sergeant Grover Fair will be elevated to the police captaincy made vacant by resignation of Captain J. E. Chandler, which was announced Friday morning, is predicted by those in close touch with the police situation. Members of the committee, however, would not discuss the situation.

Has Splendid Record.

Captain Chandler, who is 69 years of age, has been identified with the department for 37 years. His ability was first recognized by the late Chief H. C. Jennings, who assigned him to plainclothes as special aide in his office.

His elevation was gradual, after election to the post of sergeant December 13, 1918. He was made a lieutenant September 19, 1919, and elected captain June 8, 1920.

His record is clear. No charges of any kind have ever been filed against him, his only appearance before the police committee coming when he was ordered to apply for a pension. He was found to be in good physical shape by the city physician, who declined to recommend that he be retained from active duty.

Cause of Resignation.

Captain Chandler's resignation is said to have followed investigation by committee of rumors that he had used strong language in reprimanding two patrolmen who requested new partners on account of a disagreement between them. Captain Chandler is said to have declined this request, stating that the one at fault ought to be big enough to get down on his knees, if necessary, and ask the other's forgiveness. "And if both are at fault, you both should have enough of the Christian spirit to forgive one another and love each other," the captain is quoted as having said.

A short time ago he had been engaged between the two men later that day, and when both again appealed to Captain Chandler to grant their request, he is said to have used caustic language in denouncing them.

The men then appealed directly to Police Chief E. L. Jett, who, it is said, took the position that efficiency of the department required that the man be given committal papers and assigned to work to which they are best suited. The chief therefore ordered the men separated, detailing one of the men to the morning watch and allowing the other to stay on the evening watch.
